Assessors to Start Field Work April 7

— Sewer Recommendations Reviewed —

The Board of Assessors met Monday evening, April 2, at the Town Office, Sam Timberlake was elected chairman for 1979 and Stanley Howe was elected vice chairman. If major work is currently being done to your property, please notify the Town Office in order that an inspection can be done as soon as possible. The Board is also continuing work to make changes required by property transfers.

The Board of Selectmen met Tuesday evening, March 27, to review the preliminary recommendations of Dubois and King concerning upgrade of the Town's sewer collection system and treatment plant. The discussion centered on the technical aspects of the treatment plant upgrade and the board asked for additional information on a number of items. The Town Manager will meet again in the near future with Dubois and King to go over the questions on lifted intact onto the roof of P. H. Chadbourne & Co.'s new steam plant last week. It is capable of holding several days' supply of fuel. The large crane, supplied by Bancroft Contracting Corporation of South Paris, also erected the 110-foot-high smokestack which had been used for several decades at a mill in Minot.

THIS WOOD FUEL SILO WAS

The building's heavy-duty framework (engineered to support the silo), uses steel from a former Oxford Paper Co. building previously disassembled by the Chadbourne Company. The building also includes space for a maintenance shop and an employee room.

The sawmill's bark and part of its sawdust will be the fuel to provide steam to heat the sawmill planer mill and lumber dry kilns. The steam may later be used to generate electricity.

Survey Seeking to Determine Local Shopping Needs

During the month of April, the local chamber of commerce and the Bethel Area Development Corporation are sponsoring a survey of area consumers for the purpose of finding out what products and services, not now available in Bethel, Andover, Locke Mills and Woodstock area, are wanted by area residents. Beginning this coming weekend, the chamber of commerce, which is responsible for the survey, will distribute survey questionnaires through area shops and the adult education classes. Shoppers are asked in the questionnaire what they want most to be able to obtain in the area and where they want to be able to get it.

The survey form notes that since the survey taken in 1976 by the town's Planning Board, three of the high priority items have been satisfied to some extent. These three items were: additional grocery facilities, followed by the expansion of the Bethel IGA store; better pharmacy, followed by the purchase of Clukey's Pharmacy by Prim's Rocal Pharmacy; and, need for a health care facility, followed by the establishment this year of the Bethel Health Center.

Also cited as a reason for the survey being conducted at this time is the prospect of significantly increased travel costs which and $10 or more to each trip from this area to shopping centers in the nearest larger communities. By using the survey results as a means of determining what shortages cause travel outside the area, the chamber and the area development hope to strengthen local retail businesses and reduce the overall cost to local consumers.

Another hoped for result of the survey is that local merchants will consider changing their lines of goods and services to make them more attractive to potential buyers who reside in the fringe areas between this community and those continued on Page Four

More about my trip to Hawaii — We arrived in Lihue, Kauai about five o'clock in the afternoon after a short flight from Oahu Island. We had dinner in the Flame Room of the Coca Palms Hotel. On Feb. 11 we took a boat cruise to the Fern Grotto which was lovely. The Grotto was quite big with immense ferns trailing down from the upper edge of the cave. There was also a small stream falling from the top, into a basin below. Giant ferns were all around the edges of the cave. One walked through a lot of various kinds of vegetation to get to the Grotto with different kinds of flowers also. As it was rainy we didn't get very good pictures. Every night at Coca Palms there was torch lighting ceremony. One of the men blew on a conch horn, first to the east, then to the south, then to the west and finally to the north. After that one man beat the huge drum in measured strokes. Then several of the young men ran out with lighted torches and lit all the torches along the lagoon by the hotel. It was very beautiful. I took a picture of this, but of course all I got was the many tiny lights along the way. On Feb. 12 we left early for a trip to Mt. Waimea Lookout to see the Grand Canyon of Kauai. It was magnificent—such beautiful colors and rugged slopes. On the way back to the hotel we stopped at a restaurant and had Passion Fruit pie which was delicious. Also we looked at all the very lovely garden and plants they had in back of the restaurant. They had gorgeous double poinsettias there, various kinds of orchids, chenille plants as well as several kinds of hibiscos.

The next day we took a trip to the City of Refuge. This was a place where those people who had displeased the king could go and stay for certain periods of time. Then they could go back to their own village in peace. If they were caught before they reached the City of Refuge they were killed by the king's warriors. There was lots of black sand there, and a big fenced-in area where statues of the various gods were put. I didn't get too good a picture of these. There was also a place where they made the canoes used by the people on the ocean. They were more of a catamaran than anything else, but they showed the skill of the ancient peoples of the region. Well, I'll write more next week.

STATE OF MAINE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Karen L. Brown

Week of April 2, 1979:

Although the early weeks of this legislative session were sparked with some partisan controversy, most legislators have been quietly plodding away at their work. Few bills have sparked real spirited debate, and most legislative activity has centered around committee hearings, debating, passing or killing bills. As of March 23, 131 bills had been printed, 131 bills had been killed and only 41 had been enacted. Committees are expected to have completed their work by the end of April, which will mean the pace of activity will quicken as we must act on the hundreds of bills not yet considered.

I received a letter of congratulations from Governor Brennan this week, when he signed into law my first legislation of the session. Under the current law, county commissioners are mandated to pay grants to agencies on a quarterly basis even if there is evidence that funds have been misappropriated or misapplied by this agency. The purpose of my legislation was to provide the commissioners discretionary powers in regard to these payments and encourage them to review their budgets on a quarterly basis.

Other proposed legislation seeks to have a stiffer fine and jail sentence for abortions performed in the second and third trimester of pregnancy except in specific situations such as rape, incest, or the health of the mother. Presently, there is a fine of $1,000 and a jail sentence of up to five years for the offense.

In addition to these proposals, another asks that the collection of data relating to abortions be standardized and still another asks for the prohibition of abortions after "viability" and the final proposal would require parental notification in any minor's decision to have an abortion.

Legislature Considers System To Adjust Income Taxes To Inflation

A bill to require that Maine state income tax rates be adjusted every year so that state revenues do not increase disproportionately because of inflation, is now being considered by the Legislature. Currently, everyone pays a higher percentage of their income in taxes when their salaries increase, even if their purchasing power remains the same. If inflation is 10% per year and an individual receives a five per cent raise, that income is taxed at a higher rate, despite the fact that that person's

A bill to require that Maine state income tax rates be adjusted every year so that state revenues do not increase disproportionately because of inflation, is now being considered by the Legislature. Currently, everyone pays a higher percentage of their income in taxes when their salaries increase, even if their purchasing power remains the same. If inflation is 10% per year and an individual receives a five per cent raise, that income is taxed at a higher rate, despite the fact that that person's

Other proposed legislation seeks to have a stiffer fine and jail sentence for abortions performed in the second and third trimester of pregnancy except in specific situations such as rape, incest, or the health of the mother. Presently, there is a fine of $1,000 and a jail sentence of up to five years for the offense.

In addition to these proposals, another asks that the collection of data relating to abortions be standardized and still another asks for the prohibition of abortions after "viability" and the final proposal would require parental notification in any minor's decision to have an abortion.

Legislature Eyes Two Bills To Assist Maine's Elderly

Two bills of interest to elderly persons have been introduced to the Legislature. One bill would appropriate $150,000 to establish a pilot program to provide new full dentures to any elderly person eligible for benefits under the Medicaid Program or who are otherwise in financial need. Another bill would exempt meals which are purchased for the elderly from the state sales tax. It is estimated that this latter measure would save those agencies providing meals about $25,000 per year.

The Joggers Are Out — (written by a friend). Spring has come and the joggers are out. Those that can't jog just walk about. Early in the morning at the beginning of the day, those joggers are out going every which way. It's fun to watch them puff and sweat trying to jog off what they have eat. Some slow down and then just walk. You know darned well they are out to talk. It seems rather sad for one little man. Out trying to keep in shape the best he can with 6 or 8 women stretched out behind. No other man anywhere can I find.
He gets so warm he takes off his hat, but with 6 or 8 women you can't blame him for that, but that little man as I can tell, will out-jog those women, as sure as —

A Century Ago

Oxford Democrat, March 25, 1879

Is Bethel dead? No, I guess not.
Fact is, it had been for a long time slowly dying, but within the past year, seems to have taken a new lease on life, and social projects for the benefit of the village have been set on foot. The latest is one taken in hand by a number of ladies, full of progress—and has
for its object, the establishment of a public library in the village.
As the first step towards raising funds for this purpose, they decided to give a series of lectures and entertainments, and on Monday evening last, W. E. Skillings, Esq., of Bethel, delivered the first lecture at the Bethel House, taking for his subject "Reminiscences of Rome," and treating it in a very pleasant and masterly style.
A large and very intelligent audience were present, and they followed the lecturer in his glowing descriptions of the many exquisite and grand objects of interest, he had examined during his visit to Rome in 1870, with breathless attention. The lecture was illustrated by a large collection of very beautiful photographs of many of the chief places, and articles of sculpture in Rome, also by a megalethoscope, in which were inserted a number of illuminated photographs. Altogether, the company spent a very enjoyable evening,
and the vote of thanks called for the termination of the lecture, was tendered most heartily. The next lecture of the course is to be given by the Rev. Bosserman on Monday evening next. Subject,
"Beauty."

March 22—The Ladies Social Circle will hold an entertainment at the house of Mrs. Horatio Godwin, on Thursday afternoon and evening, March 27. A cordial invitation to all who want a good time. A list of the highest number of votes as the best "teamster." A Shetland worsted shawl to the lady having the most votes as the handsomest person in the company. An oyster and antiques supper will be served at 7 o'clock.

There will be an entertainment and supper at the Elms, Tuesday evening, March 25th. Bethel Cornet Band will be present.

Mr. E. C. Rowe has purchased the Kimball store in Kimball block
and will fill it up with goods.
Horatio R. Godwin has sold his farm in Newry and purchased the Essex stand in our village.

Bethel, March 21—Mr. George Farwell lost a valuable cow last week by disease of the heart. We hear of several other cases which prove fatal.

Mr. John Swan has had a quantity of timber hauled into his mill on Fish River to be saved into shingles and clapboards. Mr. Swan will put in a new water-wheel next month. The old one has rotted out.

We learn all the logging teams
came out of the woods last week.
It has been a long time since we have had so long a period of uninterrupted good roads.

The Methodist society are making arrangements to repair their church by raising it up, putting a vestry room underneath and making other improvements in the way of painting and shingling.

Last Tuesday we visited the White Mountain Stock Farm in Shelburne, N. H., of Col. R. I. Burbank, and in my next letter will give the readers of your valuable paper a few facts concerning what I saw. Mr. Burbank wintered one hundred and one head of cattle.
We advise our farmers who wish to see some of the finest stock in the state to visit this farm.

FACILITIES STUDY COMMITTEE DISCUSSES HIGHWAY DEPT

Focusing on conditions at the town highway garage, the Bethel
Municipal Facilities Study Committee met Tuesday night with Highway Superintendent Robert
Davis and Town Manager Norman Ness to assess the changes that are needed to provide an adequate facility for the town Highway Department. The space needed for storage and maintenance of town equipment was discussed, as well as various methods of heating an expanded facility, included passive solar heating.

The committee also discussed the preliminary report they will make to the Selectmen when they meet with them on April 23. The report will contain recommendations for town facilities, as well as information the committee has gathered from officials, organizations, and citizens about the advantages and disadvantages of present municipal facilities and the facilities the town will require in the next twenty years.

MRS. EARLY RETURNS FROM 1979 FLORIDA CONVENTION
Patricia A. Early of Bethel, recently returned from the 1979 Nationwide Relocation Service Convention, held in Sarasota, Fla., in March, where she represented
Early Real Estate. She joined over 500 other Nationwide members and guests from the United States,
Canada and England for the event.

The convention program featured distinguished speakers from Academe and various aspects of the real estate industry, and emphasized the ever-widening scope of real estate related services required by companies and individuals who relocate from one city or town to another.

Early Real Estate is one of over 900 local independent real estate companies who form the comprehensive network which provides needed relocation services nationally and internationally. Nationwide Relocation Service (R) is a wholly owned subsidiary of Cold-well Banker, the world's largest real estate company.

NORWAY SERVICEMASTER BUSINESS RECEIVES AWARD
ServiceMaster of the Lakes Region, Norway, which serves all of western Maine, has been awarded a citation for excellence in 1978
by its parent company, Service-
Master Industries Inc., of Downers Grove, Ill. The company, owned by Steve Bell, was selected for a Steward Award from over 1,700 ServiceMaster businesses throughout the United States and Canada.

Presentations were made at the annual national conference of Servicemaster licensees in late January.

ServiceMaster of the Lakes Region was selected for the award
because of its pursuit of excellence in customer relations and quality of service. They specialize in customized carpet and upholstery
care, resilient floor services, wall
cleaning and disaster restoration.

STUDDERED SNOW TIRES PROHIBITED AFTER MAY 1
Motorists are advised that state law prohibits the use of studded tires on Maine roads after May 1.

"Section 1375 of the motor vehicle law states that tires having metal studs, wires or spikes protruding from the tread cannot be used on any public road after the first day of May to the first day of October," said Commissioner
Arthur A. Stipphen of the Maine
Department of Public Safety.

The Maine Department of Transportation (MDOT) may extend the lawful use of studded tires, with such notice originating from MD
OT officials.

The Maine Public Safety Commissioner said the law does not prohibit the use of tire chains when required for safety because of snow, ice or other conditions
tending to cause a vehicle to slide or skid.

SURVEY TO DETERMINE LOCAL SHOPPING NEEDS

of Berlin, Rumford and Norway and South Paris. In this way, the chamber plans to work with the local retail merchants to make the local market more competitive with surrounding shopping areas.
Once the surveys are complete
and the data has been analyzed,
the Bethel Area Development Corporation will review the results
to determine possible approaches to existing businesses or to potential investors. The idea is at this point, that some shifts in shopping trends could be effected,

if adequate financing and encouragement was available that could result in a more favorable local economy without damaging the area's character, a point clearly uppermost in the minds of many area residents.

POLE, PADDLE AND PAW RACE RESULTS OF SUNDAY, APRIL 1

Fifteen teams, undaunted by cloudy skies and the chilly waters of the Sunday River, thrilled a crowd of over 100 spectators Sunday in the April Fools "Pole, Paddle and Paw" race in the Sunday River Valley. Starting on skis at the Sunday River Ski Touring Center, the racers dashed to the covered bridge then jumped into canoes for a fast paddle down the river. After landing the canoes, each team raced back to the Sunday River Inn on snowshoes for a rousing finish and celebration of April Foolishness.

An air of joviality and friendly rivalry was present throughout the race. The mass start on skis saw the whole field of racers hopping across a long stretch of wet grass before reaching the snow-covered trail. 2 1/2 miles and several brook crossings later, it was U. S. team member Leslie Bancroft of Paris, Maine who emerged first at the covered bridge. However, the first team canoe in to the water was that of Eric Hastings and Roger Smith of East Bethel. Only one canoe capsized, with David Korhonen and Tony Butters getting a cold dunking and losing a paddle before continuing valiantly on the course (using a snowshoe for a paddle). The youngest team in the race was Heidi Burk and Julie Hastings, both 13 year olds from Newry and East Bethel. Don Bennett and Ted Chabourne, the "Bethel Chamber of Commerce Team," easily won the "best-dressed" vote, running the race with suits, ties, snorkels, a snow shovel paddle, and even a battery operated turn-signal belt.

First place over all was awarded to Sonny Hastings and Tim Carter, East Bethel, for their combined time of 68.51. Second place went to Leslie Bancroft, Paris, and Liz Carey, Rumford (both U. S. Nordic Team members) for a time of 69.28. In third place was the team of Jeff Dorr and Bill Nichols of Mexico in 69.34. Dr. Jim Hudson and SAD 44 Superintendent Ken Smith of Bethel brought up the rear in the race with a time of 109:47—not bad, all things considered!

PURITY CHAPTER #102, O. E. S. TO CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY
Purity Chapter #102, Order of the Eastern Star, will be celebrating their 75th anniversary, Saturday, April 21, 7:30 p. m. at the Telstar Auditorium. Several committees are at work finalizing plans for the evening.

The meeting for the organization of the chapter was held in Bethel, Feb. 7, 1904, in the old upstairs Masonic Hall at the head of Main Street. Jefferson Chapter #89, O. E. S., Bryant Pond, installed the first officers, after which the group adjourned to the "Howard" where refreshments were served

In 1954 the chapter celebrated their 50th anniversary at the present Masonic Lodge building (formerly the Christian Science Church). Surviving Chapter members at the time of the celebration were Maude Farwell, Joan Stearns Kilborn, Rose Kimball Frost and Merton Farwell. REQUEST APPROVED FOR INFORMATION CENTERS IN LOCAL ROADSIDE PARKS

The Greater Bethel Chamber of Commerce has received approval from the Department of Transportation to erect unmanned information centers in the Gilead, Greenwood and Bethel roadside parks which are maintained by that department. The approval also includes provision for the Bethel Historical Society to erect a historic marker in the Riverside Park on U. S. Route 2 which will commemorate the last Indian raid in New England. In the department's reply to the local chamber, several constructive suggestions were offered which are designed to improve the overall usefulness of these information centers and deter any vandalism.

The department has also indicated its readiness to install highway signs alerting motorists to the information centers at each park as well as the location of the Indian raid marker.

Now that approval for the information program which is designed to provide an alternative to roadside advertising signs has been received, the chamber plans to contact potential contributors for the funding necessary to construct these centers.

Although the centers were approved at the chamber's annual meeting, budget estimates at the time did not indicate that sufficient funds would be available for purchase of the materials and labor. Therefore, a separate fundraising effort must be formulated for discussion at the chamber's next meeting.

REP. BROWN SPONSORS BILL TO HELP ELDERLY WITH TAXES

State Representative Karen Brown (R. Bethel) has sponsored a bill to provide more time for elderly people, under the Tax Refund Act, to pay their property tax bills, LD 1121.

Rep. Brown stated that "I will present my testimony to the Taxation Committee on Monday. Currently it takes five to six months for people to receive their tax rebate under the Elderly Householders Tax and Rent Act from the State. During this time, they are charged interest for being late with their tax payment. My bill would remove the interest charges during this rebate waiting period. This interest-free time would not exceed 8 months."

This bill is co-sponsored by Rep. A. Forest Nelson (R. New Sweden).

Rep. Brown has also sponsored another bill for Senior Citizens, LD621. This legislation, co-sponsored by Rep. Glen Torrey (R. Poland), would reduce the age for compulsory fishing licenses from 70 to age 65.

"ARE COMPUTERS DANGEROUS TO OUR WELL-BEING" IS TOPIC OF MEETING AT USM APRIL 26

"Are Computers Dangerous to Our Well-Being" will be the theme of a film and discussion at the University of Southern Maine Thursday, April 26.

The event, to be held at 3 p. m. at USM's Luther Bonney Auditorium, will be open to the public free of charge.

Among issues to be explored by Professor LaSalle are what computers should and should not know about individuals, implications of a national data bank, controlling computers to prevent their use in invading individual privacy, automation and its effect on individuals' job security and what benefits from computerization can be expected in the future.

Dr. LaSalle is a leading authority on management information systems and teaches courses at the University of Arizona dealing with society and automation, behavioral and economic aspects of information systems and the analysis and logical design of business data processing.

The two-hour forum featuring LaSalle is sponsored by the University of Southern Maine chapter of Phi Kappa Phi, an interdisciplinary national honor society founded in 1897 at the University of Maine at Orono.

BOARD OF REALTORS TO HOLD PRIVATE PROPERTY WEEK

Plans for a contest to determine the homeowner who has owned and lived longest in his or her present home were announced by Carolyn Edwards, President of the Western Maine Board of Realtors.

The contest will be held during "Private Property Week," which is being celebrated this year from April 15 to 21. The theme of this year's observance is "This Land is your land... preserve it, enjoy it... invest in it." It seems appropriately connected to our search for the winner of such a contest.

Mrs. Edwards said. Claimants to the honor, or their friends, can pick up rules and application forms after March 19, at any Realtor's office in the Western Maine Board's area of jurisdiction. This area includes most towns within the area bordered to the north by Bethel, to the east by Orlaisfield, to the south by Cornish, and to the west by the Maine/New Hampshire line.

A complete list of eligible towns is included on the contest application. "All entries must be submitted by April 16, in order that winners may be notified that they will be guests of honor at the May 3rd Western Maine Board of Realtors meeting, where they will receive gifts and plaques," Edwards concluded.

APPLY NOW FOR 1979-80 HEAD START PROGRAM

Richard K. Woodbury, Children's Services Director with Oxford County Community Services, has announced that applications are still being accepted for children to enroll in the 1979-80 Head Start Program. Parents, who may wish to enroll their child should contact him at 743-2101 or contact their local Head Start Center. Children should be enrolled as soon as possible because the Children's Services Policy Council will be accepting children in either April or May.

There are three Head Start Centers located in Oxford County—one in each of the following towns: Norway, Bethel and Roxbury.

Children applying should be four years old by Oct. 15, live within the school district of the Head Start Center they wish to attend, and fall within the income guidelines established by the Federal Government. Children with handicapping conditions are especially encouraged to apply.

The Head Start Program is designed to provide education, parent involvement and social services.

The education component includes language development; concepts of size, shape, color; science; art; and physical development.

The health program stresses immunizations, growth measurement, vision and hearing screening, physical examinations, arrangements for treatment and dental care.

Children in the program receive hot, nutritious meals and both the children and their parents receive education in proper nutrition.

Parent involvement in both program decision making and class room operation is encouraged. Parents are also assisted in finding the special services they may need.

Ten percent of the Head Start enrollment is available to children with handicapping conditions including deafness, visual impairment, mental retardation, emotional disturbances, or physical handicaps.

Head Start works with other agencies to provide the special services they may require.

Stamp Act of 1977. Only the poorest households will receive allotments equal to the full cost of the Thrifty Food Plan.

The TFP, a food guide developed by USDA—includes specific foods—in quantities—the cost of which is the basis for food stamp allotments, based on household size and income.)

Income eligibility standards for the Food Stamp Program are derived from the Office of Management and Budget nonfarm poverty guidelines for the 48 bordering states and the District of Columbia, Alaska and Hawaii have separate income eligibility guidelines. Monthly eligibility standards are adjusted every six months to reflect changes in the Consumer Price Index.

For the period ending April 1979, a family of four must have a net income of no more than $6,500 to qualify for stamps. Net income is the amount of income the family has after subtracting deductions.

THE 1936 FLOOD: WHAT HAPPENED IN NEWRY

The following essay by Scott F. Wight won the Dr. Moses Mason Award in 1978. The award is given each year to the student at Gould Academy who in the opinion of judges appointed by the President of the Bethel Historical Society submits the best essay on a local subject. The notes have been omitted for the sake of clarity. Further information on the award to be made in May can be obtained by contacting the respective school office or by calling the Society at 824-2908.

Preface: My very special thanks to my father, for bridging a gap in the flood of time.

On Wednesday, March 11, 1936 Willard Wight was working on the Grafton Notch Road, cleaning out culverts. Around noon it began to rain. This day Willard would always remember as the start of the largest flood he had ever seen.

It rained the rest of Wednesday and Thursday. The sky rumbled Friday night and the darkness was broken by flashes of lightning. This Friday the thirteenth of March, was the night of the Junior Prom at Gould Academy. This was one Junior Prom the students from Newry would not attend.

Three to four feet of winter snow still covered the frozen ground. The large amount of rain was too much for the ice clogged brooks and rivers to handle. The result was massive flooding.

A 1936 estimate of state wide damage shows just how massive the flooding was. $10,000,000 worth of property damage and high water marks three to five feet higher than the devastating flood of 1927.

In my report I will specialize on how parts of Newry were affected by the flood.

The town of Newry is divided into two valleys, the Sunday River valley and the Bear River valley. Bear River empties into the Androscoggin River at Newry Corner. Mr. Arthur Gauthier presently (1978) owns the combination, gas station, store and overnight cabins at Newry Corner. In 1936 the buildings were owned by Ed Warren. The section of the main building on the south side closest to Route 26 to Bethel was a public restaurant. Bear River was up to the window sills.

Ed's small garage had started to float away with the rising water. Using Yankee ingenuity he chained his garage to the cement monument at the intersection of Route 2 and 26.

The monument that came in so handy for chaining floating garages to, was two feet in diameter, three feet high, with a fifteen inch sphere on top. The monument was built by a local WPA (Works Project Administration) crew. This organization established in 1935 provided jobs for many of Newry's unemployed.

A bronze plaque in memory of Ralph Frost, who was killed in action in Sedan, France, was attached to the monument. Frost was one of the 120,000 American casualties in the tremendous Meuse-Argonne offensive in the fall of 1918, and the only Newry casualty of World War I. Unfortunately the cement monument is no longer in existence. The bronze plaque is now on the stone memorial in front of the Bear River Grange Hall.

At the North end of Bear River, just over the Newry line into Grafton, Leon Enman was growing concerned. Bear River was rising rapidly. He decided to move his family to his cousin's (Roy Bennett) house.

After getting his family safely tucked away, Leon went back for another look. He waded through the freezing water and looked in to a window of his flooded house. What he saw would be written down in local diaries as a reminder of the 1936 flood. He saw the water lapping at the keyboard of his piano.

Saturday the rain let up to a drizzle. Sunday was a welcome relief with no rain. But on Monday evening the rain started again. The rain and floods of the eleventh, twelfth and thirteenth had weakened several bridges. The rains of the seventeenth, eighteenth and nineteenth made them useless.

On the nineteenth, after being battered by tons of rushing water, the dam of the W. B. Wight sawmill gave way. This mill, which had sawed out the lumber that was used to build the North Newry Community Church and the Bear River Grange Hall, was utterly destroyed by the flood.

The bridge by what is now Bernard Powers' house could take the punishment no longer. The normally tiny brook, now swollen by flood water, destroyed the bridge.

On the Branch Road the remains of the old Eames mill stretched across Branch Brook. It was swept away. But the rapid torrent was not content with just the remains of an old mill. No, the raging waters dug and tore at the Branch Road itself. The water succeeded in removing a 300 foot section of the road in front of what is now the Pearl Bennett place. Needless to say, this made it extremely difficult for the other inhabitants of the Branch Road. Five men and their families were cut off from the rest of Newry: Ole Olson, Ole Olson Jr., Burt Faine, Will Walker and Willie Whibber.

The concrete bridge at Newry Corner was not safe from the flood. The roaring waters removed the rocks and gravel from beneath the middle support of the bridge. The center of the bridge dropped one-and-a-half feet, a "V" was formed which became rather difficult to use.

Newry was physically cut off from the rest of the world twice in these two weeks. Both times Bear River and Sunday River flooded Route 26 to Bethel. The Androscoggin flooded Route 2 toward Hanover and Rumford. In Grafton Notch the road was blocked by several blow downs and at the foot of Mother Walker Falls, the road was washed out to a depth of four feet. During times of isolation special duties arise.

On Wednesday evening, March 11, 1936, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Worcester and their infant daughter found themselves stranded in Grafton. They were unable to reach their home in Upton because of rising water. Fred Wight invited them into his home for the next two nights, until they could return to Upton.

During the second rains, Leon Enman realized the high water would make it impossible for his cow to find forage. Since the main road was under water, Leon took his cow and hiked over a part of a mountain ridge to his neighbors, the Hanscoms. Hartley Hanscom and his family kept the cow for the next eight days.

Fred Kilgore needed help. The high water brought flooding in his basement, causing him concern for his furnace. He knew there was still much cold weather ahead. Roger Hanscom, a 1935 graduate of Gould Academy, answered the call. Roger was living at home doing whatever work he could find, such as shoveling dirt into trucks for the road crew.

Roger went down to Kilgore's Tuesday the seventeenth. Together they pumped and bailed the water from Fred's basement. There wasn't much they could do. As long as there was water in the fields, it continued to pour into the cellar.

Roy Bennett's house is on a knoll along the main route through Newry about six and a half miles from Newry Corner. It is located about twenty yards above and 300 yards away from the river. The field between the house and Bear River was flooded.

This was not too disquieting. That part of the field often flooded during a heavy summer thunder shower. But the field across the road was a different story. The Bennett's had never seen it flooded before. Now it was under two feet of water.

There was no major cause for alarm, however, Roy and Jenny with their house guests, the Enmans, were safe and dry.

The flood was a learning experience. People found that they could depend on their neighbors and friends in time of trouble. From something as simple as taking in an extra cow for a week or the demands of taking care of an extra family, the 1936 flood helped support the statement, "The worst of times helps bring out the best in Man."

Clarice Gibson, Corres.

April came in stormy and didn't get one April Fool played on me. Wilfred, who is big on that, came in from Atlanta, Ga., the 2nd. He was supposed to get into Portland around 9:30 a. m. but when everyone had got off he wasn't on it. It seems the plane in Atlanta had some troubles and they didn't make connections in Boston. He came in about noon. On the way home, we stopped in Norway at one folks, the George Allens, and when we started from there the snow was coming down hard. According to the weather report at night, we had two to three inches Sunday River area. This morning, the 3rd, everything looks so clean with its new blanket of snow and every branch also has its covering.

Saturday Rat Saunders and I rode to Gorham, N. H. Actually from here the nearest downtown store is in Gorham.

Sunday I was pleased to have my nephew, Ben Tucker III, Andy and Ben IV, come for dinner and a visit.

Thursday I had to make a quick trip to Mexico to pick up the plates for Ira's car.

The 25th of March Mrs. Thelma Merrill had her niece, Mrs. Ernestine Prescott, Miss Louise Chapman, Phyllis Grenier, Mrs. Helen Prescott and her son, Peter. We are glad to report that Mrs. Merrill came home Saturday.

Dennis Smith telephoned his folks, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Smith, Jr., the 24th and was right in the big crippling snow storm of Colorado as he is stationed at Fort Carson. If I understood right he had a Jeep with chains and even then had trouble moving.

Bruce, Betty, Matthew and Michael Smith visited Bruce's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Smith, Jr., Friday. Also Doug Smith and Heather Downing of Cape Cod came Friday to visit Doug's parents, the Homer Smiths, for the week end.

Sheri and Kristy Angevine, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Angevine, were in the gym show at Telstar Tuesday night. Sue, Ricky and Timmy Angevine went to watch the performance.

Sue Laban came from the hospital Saturday afternoon. John Laban's sister, Gretchen Wilson, and mother, Katrine Wilson, Waterville, went to Massachusetts for the week end and on the way home stopped at Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Casey's, Reading, Mass., to bring home Amy.

Mrs. Ruth Butters went to Androscoggin Valley Hospital, Berlin, N. H., Wednesday to see Mrs. Chester Hayes and Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Lester Butters went to Lovell to see Mrs. Marion Rodgerston.

Vince Chapman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Chapman, celebrated his 10th birthday, April 2. His mother made a cake which she took down to the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Chapman's, where they had cake and ice cream. His brother, Nick, also came. Other relatives were coming, but with the storm didn't feel like trying to make the hill.

If I could only see the road you came,
With all the jagged rocks and crooked way,
I might more kindly think of your misstep
And only praise.

We were all very sad to hear of Irene Gray's death. She will be greatly missed by all those who knew her.

My sister, Mrs. Trimbach of North Waterford, visited me Wednesday. My nephew and little daughter, Jennifer, also came in for a while. It was very nice seeing them all again.

Eveline Barrett, Corres.

No snow for All Fools Day. Didn't want any, did you?

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Tripp and four children were in town Saturday and will move up from Lewiston soon.

Joe Barrett had his 82nd birthday Wednesday. I had dinner with him and took a small cake. He still has a liking for sweet things, especially chocolates.

Marie Kuvaia, Jean Millett, Lloyd Huntley, Maureen, Brenda Millett, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Card, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Helkkinen, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Abbott and Jo-Ann, Eveline Barrett were callers at the Lawrence's. Sherry and Stevie Millett spent the week end there as their parents went to Canada with Mr. and Mrs. Earl E. Palmer.

Eveline Barrett made some monkey bread Saturday and took some to Ledgeview and everybody loved it. Dr. Nangle came in to check Joe and he ate four hunks. Never had any before. It is house cleaning time so take a few minutes to make Monkey Bread. Three cups buttermilk biscuits (40 can); 1/2 cup white sugar; 2 tps. cinnamon; 1 cup brown sugar (packed); 1 stick oleo. Put white sugar and spice in a paper bag and mix. Cut biscuits in quarters and put in the bag and shake well. Layer in well greased tube pan (makes 3 layers). Nuts and raisins may be added between layers. Melt oleo and brown sugar and boil one minute. Pour over biscuits and bake 35 minutes in oven 350°. Cool in pan 15 minutes then turn onto tin foil. To serve just pinch off a piece with fingers and eat. Monkey bread — monkey do! Easy to make delicious and beautiful to serve.

Word from Hazel Collette, she has been in hospital three times and now has a staph infection in her thumb. Cheer up.

Mrs. Collette Morgan, Corres.

The sun was up when I opened my eyes this morning. It lifted above the horizon and was organizing itself as its long, golden light shone on Edgcomb and Patch Mountains. I lifted my head and saw the dazzle of light on the distant trees while the nearer ones looked pine-dark. It was day up there but down here in the valley it wasn't yet sun-up.

There was a whole new day ahead, a day unfamiliar so I got up to enjoy it.

We always observe the pond at breakfast time, lying just below the house. It's our weathervane for it instantly records every shift in wind direction. Even the slightest breeze drifts along the surface. Our remarks are: "The wind is blowing up pond" or "The wind is blowing down pond" or "The wind is whiffing, now."

Looking down from here we can observe the two changes of the year of the water, the coming and the going of the ice. Late fall comes the skim along the edges then the expanse of a hard cold lid in sub zero nights. In spring, as now, the channel opens first then the retreat begins, growing spongy under the warmer sun. With the eye-open waters awakened, we are free once again to enjoy the return of things and adventures ahead.

We have already seen the otter at play. This week, too, a pair of ducks arrived. How I thrill at their return!

A perfect March day seldom endures. March can try man's soul but it can also fill him with exultation. Then it is hard to give up a minute of it.

This clear dazzling day, the temperature rose up and before noon I had to go and see. I walked up the Spring Road and found it soggy in places. This was meaningful. Seeds were waiting here for more warmth, and direct sun. I continued to the first ledge. There was still snow and a crust at this hour.

There was green but only that which had been there all winter; partridge berry vines, Christmas ferns, and moss.

On one ledge the lichens were flourishing and crumbling away the rocks.

I climbed to the crest where the backbone of the hill was and where the country lay open and exposed for miles. Then I turned and started down the slopes, watching the horizon through the leafless trees.

Every season of the year the hills tell you something. It's hard to express but when you live with the hills you feel it. Once with the hills you remember them the rest of your life.

I crossed a brook tearing its way through yet unmelting snow. In a lonely spot there stood a tall old tree as quietly as if no one had intruded there throughout the whole winter. Several crows were holding a meeting at the very top. I'm sure they felt injured or insulted by my presence. They began to caw-caw-caw and launching themselves sullenly on the air, took flight to some other secluded spot.

Pushing on down hill I was able to see the pond which seemed to light up the whole valley across the road from home. "Springtime is like a melody, its gay song thrills the heart. And I'm right there to take it in. When springtime gets its start." Georgia B. Adams

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Holt and Danny visited Mr. and Mrs. Leonas Holt and us on Sunday, returning to their home in Windsor late afternoon.

Frank and Dorothy Curtis visited Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Leeper at their cottage Friday evening.

Callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Curtis this week were Phil Bentley, Lewiston; Irene Stevens, Augusta; Mildred Bowman, Hebron; Robert Yates, Tubb's District; John Swan, Locke Mills.

Ann Holt, Bethel, visited her parents and us on Saturday and visited with her brother and family on Sunday.

Scott and Duane Hayes, West Paris, were at the Hayes farm on Saturday.

TELSTAR EARTH SCIENCE STUDENTS GET HOT, DRY LECTURE

"We have a very significant source of energy right under our feet," says Donald Eddy of Bethel. Mr. Eddy, who was a guest lecturer for Telstar Earth Science students recently, explained with the use of film and lecture, that the hot, dry granite rocks under foot here in much of New England (including this immediate area) contains a vast supply of heat. He further indicated that recent project studies undertaken by a Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory Team have effectively demonstrated the practical use of this kind of earth-heat energy.

According to information released by Los Alamos Laboratories the cost of generating power from hot, dry rock systems may be as low as 3 to 4 cents per kilowatt hour, which is competitive with the current cost of power from coal, oil, or nuclear plants.

Many students in the Earth Science classes exhibited a high degree of interest in Mr. Eddy's talk. Follow-up discussions the next day revealed concerns on the part of students as to why New England's hot, dry rock should have to wait any longer for development as an important energy source in this area.

A most grateful "thanks" goes to Mr. Eddy for a very stimulating program about the energy under our feet.

Health Views
That Headache Has a Meaning.

Remember this when a headache occurs. You gamble with your health when you treat the pain rather than its cause.

Some headaches have simple explanations such as those resulting from overindulgence in food or drink. This type usually passes as soon as its cause—a disturbed digestive and eliminative tract—has been relieved.

Most other headaches, however, particularly if chronic or recurring, should be taken more seriously, as they may be a warning signal of a more serious health problem. And often the problem is not related to the head.

Headaches can, of course, result from many conditions. But research has revealed that a common cause—often unrecognized—can be traced to the cervical vertebrae (spinal bones of the neck). One should not delude oneself into assuming that headaches are "normal" and that they can be easily corrected with a package of "pain killers." Seeking relief by merely drugging the pain often allows the cause of the symptoms to go untreated. The further a condition is permitted to advance, the more serious it becomes, and the more difficult it is to overcome.

Headaches are the most common health complaint in America today. If you have headaches, it

Upton

— Mrs. Arline Bernier, Corres. —

Expectantly when this column is printed I will be home in Upton. I am writing it in Germany while visiting my son, Edward and his family, in the Kaiserslautern area. We have visited some castle ruins while on an organized hiking tour, enjoyed German food in a little restaurant and some shopping mostly the gazing type. So far, I'm most impressed by the old homes and the way they cluster to form villages, surrounded by fields, pastures and vineyards. Many of the vineyards are built in the steppe system with brick and stone shoring walls. We were introduced to the organized folk-marches and Alan and I got each a medal for a 10 kilometer hike up and down hills and through a town. Germans and military and visitors of all ages, color and sizes hiked along the six mile path. Later we enjoyed a tour of Heidelberg castle which had been the scene of a marriage between a German and Swedish royalty.

TELSTAR DRAMA CLUB PRESENTS "CHILDHOOD" AT ONE-ACT PLAY FESTIVAL

Members of the Telstar Drama Club gave an outstanding performance of Thornton Wilder's one act play "Childhood" at the Western Regional Drama Festival in Bath on March 24. Charles Ramsey, director of the production, stated "The cast gave their best performance at the Festival, which far outshined many of the other plays presented. I regret that only two of the productions presented could be presented again in the State Finals." The Drama Club Director from Leavitt remarked that "Childhood" was the only selection which he could relax and watch. Many observers as well as the judges were also complimentary. "It is always difficult to say which play is best," remarked Ramsey. "A good deal depends on the taste, perception, background, and preferences of the judges. The students put forth their best effort, which was outstanding in my opinion."

Tim Myers and Mindy McElmurry were selected for the "All Festival cast," an honor awarded to outstanding actors at the Festival. Plans for another production are still pending. Right now the Community Musical is the Club's most important effort. The Broadway musical "Plain and Fancy" will be presented the week end of May 4. The production will combine the efforts of the community, school dramatic and music departments.

GILEAD WOMEN MET MARCH 20

The Gilead Women's Club met at the home of Lise McLain on Tuesday, March 20 with most members and one guest present.

Secretary's and treasurer's reports were read and accepted.

Discussion was held on how many scholarships to award this year and the ladies decided to award just one to a senior from Gilead who will be going on to college in the fall. It was decided as usual to let the guidance counselor at Telstar choose which student shall receive this award.

Also decided to have an Easter Egg Hunt again this year. This will be held at Bev Corriveau's place because of the large bare area away from the road where the eggs can be hidden. It was also decided to hold the egg hunt at nine 'in the morning' Easter Sunday. There will be prizes and candy awarded for those who find the special eggs; also the most eggs. This hunt will be for children up to the age of ten, and it will be for Gilead residents only.

More details will be put in the paper the week before Easter.

Lise was presented a beautiful owl birthday cake made by Lin Chapman. Lise also received several birthday cards from other club members.

The next meeting will be held on Tuesday, April 17 at 7:30 p. m. at the home of Jean Corriveau in Gilead.

BETHEL RECREATIONAL AREA LODGINGS AND RESTAURANTS GUIDE FOR 1979 UNDERWAY

Owners of motels, inns, camping areas, restaurants and pizza and sub shops have been mailed a questionnaire to be completed and returned to the Greater Bethel Chamber of Commerce for use in preparing the 1979 guide to area lodgings and restaurants.

This season's guide is included in the regional matching funds promotion program sponsored by the Maine Publicity Bureau and the State Development Office. Therefore, according to the local chamber of commerce, sufficient copies can be printed to last through the foliage season. It will also be distributed to a large number of travel agencies, tour centers, AAA offices and similar kinds of tourist information facilities throughout southern New England and Ontario.

Respondents are asked to return the information for this season's listings by April 20.

The number of individual listings are expected to double from the 15 lodgings, restaurants and camping areas listed in the 1978 edition which was the first edition. National Forest camping areas are listed in the Evans Notch vacation guide and are not included in the brochure of commercially operated vacation services. The goal of the chamber of commerce is to compile a listing of all such services that are available to travelers and vacationers visiting the western mountain area of the state.

"WEATHERSTICK" GAINS NATIONAL PROMINENCE

The Maine Woodsman's Weatherstick, a rustic weather predictor manufactured by Steve Wight and the staff of Sunday River Inn, has recently gained national prominence. The craft product was featured in an advertisement in the March 12, 1979 issue of The New Yorker magazine placed by Especially Maine, a catalog gift house from Kennebunk. The ad has produced a flood of orders from throughout the country, keeping "the folks at Sunday River Inn" busy creating their fascinating backwoods weather instruments.
